

International students requesting F-1 status must submit financial documentation to prove that enough funds are readily available for the first year of estimated expenses and should be prepared to prove that additional funds will be available for the duration of studies. Students requesting J-1 status must submit financial documentation to prove that funding is available for the entire J-1 program.

If the financial documents are not in the student's name, an affidavit of support must be provided by the holder of the financial account.
